Brass is one of the finest material used to craft hardware. Its nature is a highly dependable resistant to corrosion and provides the smoothies finish compare to hardware made of other materials. Our Solid Brass Series go through a heat forging process, starting with raw solid brass material heated to high temperature, then pound into specially made mould to form the desire products. This process requires more intensive work and attention to details compare to simpler forging technique known as casting, but it produces heavier and stronger products.
